

N. D. GOV. DEFIES SUPREME COURT; CALLS TROOPS

RESCUED BABE
SUFFERS FROM
LACK OF FOODAuthorities Convinced Bobbie Connor
Wandered Off

Hartsdale, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—The kidnapping theory in the Bobby Connor case collapsed today.

While the little curly-headed son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Connor lay seriously ill in a hospital to which he was taken after being found yesterday in a bramble thicket near his home, federal agents and police announced their investigations were ended.

They were convinced, they said, that 21-months-old Bobby who disappeared last Thursday wasn't kidnapped at all. All evidence showed, they declared, that he had toddled alone into the woods and had spent the five days there.

Suffering from starvation and exposure, the child is a "very sick baby" but has a "fair" chance to recover, said Dr. Claude W. Munger, attending him at the Grassland hospital.

Wandered From Home
Frank Fay, agent of the department of justice, announced the end of the federal investigation in a statement in which he said it had been established that Bobby simply wandered from home.

Police Chief Philip McQuillan said he concurred in Fay's statement.

Fay said investigators had traced the child's movements to the thicket where he was found by Police-men Roscoe Dunckel and Jerome Hogan. Bobby walked a block with 3-year-old Ruth Schwagerman, a neighbor girl, and then wandered alone along a wagon path into the woods. Fay said the investigation had determined.

The federal agents' statement quoted the opinions of Dr. Munger and state physicians of the hospital that the child could have survived the five days—without water or food—in the woods.

Without Nourishment
Dr. Munger said Bobby's condition "clearly indicated" that he had been lost in the thicket the entire time. Cuts and scratches from bramble bushes covered the shrunken little body. Dr. Munger estimated the child had lost from 10 to 20 pounds. His stomach was swollen from lack of nourishment.

Thursday, that the child's punishment had been eaten quantities of grass.

Dr. Munger said Sunday night's showers probably saved the baby from dying of thirst. Enough rain water would have entered the pores of the skin to prevent complete dehydration, he said.

The physician pointed out further, in support of his theory that Bobby had lain in the woods since Thursday, that the child's punishment had been eaten quantities of grass.

Fay incorporated Dr. Munger's findings in his statement and added that a careful investigation had determined that the child's searchers, tramping through a wide area of woodlands, never got closer than 300 feet to the spot where Bobby was found.

Plan Blood Transfusion
Dr. Munger said a blood transfusion would be given the child today.

Bobby gained a pound and 13 ounces last night after being given a quart of glucose and water. He was being fed by injections. Physicians said an attempt to feed the child normally might lessen his chances to live.

At four-hour intervals he was given a spoonful of whiskey and water.

Police-man Dunckel explained that he and Hogan found the child by looking "where nobody else had looked." They carried Bobby to a police car and, with siren going, raced to the Connor home.

"My baby! Oh, my baby," cried Mrs. Connor when they brought her child.

Then she collapsed and Bobby was rushed to the hospital, accompanied by his father.

Harry Lee Forrester, the peddler detained for possible connection with the child's disappearance, was released last night.

"Kidnaped" Ottawa
Farm Hand Found
in a Chicago Jail

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—A charge of disorderly conduct was pending today against Marvin Peterson, 25-year-old farmhand, whom his employer, Louis Wolf, reported kidnapped from a farm near Ottawa, Ill.

Police-man William Binder of Chicago said he drove to the farm with a friend to question Peterson, whom he said he suspected of paying attention to the officer's estranged wife last winter in Chicago.

Peterson, the policeman said, seemed to accompany him to Chicago where he was locked up on a disorderly conduct charge.

DIVORCE GIVEN
MRS. McADOO TO BE LOOKED INTO

Speed of Action Taken in Los Angeles Has Aroused Interest

Los Angeles, July 18.—(AP)—The divorce of Senator William Gibson McAdoo and Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo, daughter of the late President Wilson, faced an inquiry today by Presiding Judge Frank C. Collier of the Superior Court.

Mrs. McAdoo was granted the divorce by Superior Judge Allan B. Campbell in a hearing lasting about five minutes yesterday—within twenty minutes after she filed suit. "It would be possible for a complaint to be filed and go through the regular processes in the time which this action took," Judge Collier said, "but I want to know that all the processes were duly followed in the case."

Judge Collier said his investigation "will not void the decree."

Blamed on Weather
The Washington weather and differences of interest were blamed by Mrs. McAdoo for the divorce, obtained on grounds of incompatibility.

"As a senator, Mr. McAdoo is obliged to spend the larger part of each year in Washington," she said in a statement. "The climate does not agree with me and it is impossible for me to live there. I have and always shall have the greatest admiration and affection for Mr. McAdoo."

The senator, who did not contest the action, said she "correctly" stated the reasons for the separation.

She Gets Children
The court approved a property settlement, which was not made public, and awarded custody of the children, Eleanor, 19, and Faith, 14, jointly to the parents.

Henry Grivi, attorney for Mrs. McAdoo, said: "Each step was taken according to the rules of court and law. Under the rules it could have been done even faster. If Judge Collier wants to investigate he is perfectly at liberty to do so."

Senator McAdoo is 70 years old; Mrs. McAdoo 43. McAdoo's first wife, Sarah Fleming McAdoo, died in 1913.

Miss Wilson, youngest daughter of the President, and McAdoo, then secretary of the treasury in her father's cabinet, were married at the White House in 1914. They have home in Los Angeles and Santa Barbara.

PUBLIC INVITED TO JUDGING OF PERFECT BACKS

"Miss Dixon" Will be Selected at Hotel Dixon
This Evening

The eighth annual convention of the Illinois Chiropractic Society will formally open in Dixon tomorrow, but many of the delegates were arriving today and the clinics, due to a rush of applications, were in operation today at the Hotel Dixon, which will be the convention headquarters. The selection of "Miss Dixon," winner of the local section of the Perfect Back contest, one of the features of the convention in which the Dixon Chamber of Commerce has co-operated with Dr. S. Chandler Bend in providing attractive prizes for the ten highest scoring contestants, will take place this evening.

The main dining room will be the scene of the final judging and about a score of young ladies from Dixon and vicinity will appear, from which number "Miss Dixon" will be selected. She will then enter into competition Friday evening for the honor of becoming "Miss Illinois" and will receive a free trip to the Century 21 Progress in Chicago. The ten contestants scoring the next highest number of points will be awarded prizes donated by local merchants.

Public Is Invited
A special floor show in the dining room at the Hotel Dixon will furnish entertainment this evening starting at 7:30 during the judging of the contestants. The young ladies will be attired in specially designed gowns during the judging. The judges will be selected from the chiropractic profession and will be announced this evening. The public is invited to attend the judging and selection of "Miss Dixon" this evening, and the prizes to the ten highest scoring entrants will be announced. The prizes will remain on display in the various display windows until Friday evening, when they will be presented in connection with the selection of Miss Illinois.

An influx of applications for the clinics, which are a feature of the convention and which are conducted by foremost chiropractic practitioners of the country, necessitated the opening of these departments at the Hotel Dixon today. Dr. G. W. Will of Macon, Mo., of the educational department, is in charge. He was assisted by Dr. R. L. Larson of Sioux City, Iowa, and Dr. E. H. Norris of Des Moines, Iowa, with P. N. Carl of Chicago as x-ray technician. The clinics are conducted without charge to those applying and are part of a nation-wide educational program. Applicants entered the clinics this morning from cities many miles distant from Dixon. These departments will continue for the three days of the convention and the long list of applications necessitated the extension of this section of the program today.

Plan Special Clinic
With the opening of the convention Thursday, Dr. K. J. Hawkins of the Forest Park sanitarium at Davenport, Iowa, will conduct a special clinic for mental disorders and epileptics at the Hotel Dixon from 9 to 12 o'clock tomorrow. The list of applicants for this section was almost filled at noon today.

The convention program will officially open at 9:30 tomorrow morning at the Hotel Dixon. Rev. A. G. Suechting will pronounce the invocation to be followed by an address of welcome to the delegates by Dr. T. P. Borer, president of the Illinois Chiropractic society. This will be followed by the nomination of officers for the society for the ensuing year and the transaction of other business until the noon hour.

In the afternoon, beginning at 1:30, Mayor George C. Dixon will welcome the chiropractors and their guests to Dixon, the convention then entering into a program of subjects pertaining to the practice.

Miss Edna Riley, 16, was picked from seventeen Rockford girls, as the possessor of the most perfect back in that city last evening, and will enter the state competition here as "Miss Rockford."

Needed to Reduce Chinch Bug Losses

Champaign, Ill., (AP)—State Entomologist W. P. Flint said continuation of the present rainy weather would probably cut the chinch bug loss in the Illinois corn lands to 15 or 20 per cent and eliminate the pest for several seasons to come. He said at least 10 per cent of the corn crop is already a loss.

Challenger for

Frisco's Food Blockade Broken While Employers Consider Peace Proposal of Strike Committee; Rioting in SeattleMediators Encouraged by Arbitration Offer of Strikers

San Francisco, July 18.—(AP)—Two vital conferences were called today in efforts to reach an immediate settlement of the general strike.

Mediators, encouraged by the strikers' offer of arbitration, sought ways and means of bringing the union representatives and employers together for a quick termination of the walkout involving 100,000 men in the bay region.

The shipowners were to consider the proposal of the general strike committee for mediation of the maritime strike, involving 27,000 workers along the Pacific coast.

The shipowners previously had agreed to arbitrate with the International Longshoremen's Association but had refused arbitration with the nine other striking maritime unions.

Nine Not Representative
Explaining their positions, they asserted the nine other unions were not representative of their trades.

Mayor Angelo Rossi and the other mediators also gathered. "Discussion of union labor's resolution yesterday proposing arbitration gave us something to work on," said Mayor Rossi.

"We know what the unions are willing to do and are waiting to see how the shipowners feel about it."

A demand that the general strike be called off immediately was made by Seattle employees.

Call Proposal "Trick"
The employers stated openly the proposal made by the unions at San Francisco "will not be accepted because it's a trick."

"We will not do a thing toward arbitration or otherwise until and unless you call off the general strike," the employers were quoted as saying by the Seattle citizens emergency strike committee.

The food blockade in the Bay region meanwhile was broken, with trucks bringing in huge loads of fresh produce, meats and other foodstuffs.

Though the arbitration proposal failed to forecast specifically an end to the general walkout of nearly 100,000 union workers, which has paralyzed the normal service of 1,300,000 people of the metropolitan area, it was quickly hailed as a possible way out of the demoralizing crisis.

The resolution adopted by the committee by a vote of 207 to 180 after seven hours of debate, followed a day of increasing tension as 30,000 east-bay workers joined in the walkout and raids and riots struck the region. More than 300 alleged radicals were rounded up by police while self-styled vigilante groups stormed known Communist headquarters.

MISSOURI JUDGE
ENJOINS FEDERAL
LABOR MEDIATOR

Order Restrains Hearing on Strike at Electric Plant

St. Louis, July 18.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Max Baron today issued a temporary restraining order preventing the St. Louis regional labor board from opening a hearing on alleged code violations by an electrical company here.

The order, first of its kind issued here against a Federal board, came after attorneys for the company, the Century Electric Co., filed a plea challenging the jurisdiction of the labor board and declaring the complaint filed against it by 1010 striking employees was so indefinite it left the company without a basis for defense.

Employees of the company went on strike June 29 demanding a 10 per cent wage increase and recognition of their union. Since then ten assaults by strike pickets on employees who refused to join the walkout have been reported. Police last night arrested 46 strike pickets at the plants for alleged violence.

Reluctant to issue the injunction against the labor board, Judge Baron issued the order after attorneys for the electric company cited a recent ruling by a U. S. District Judge in holding that action could be brought against a Federal board in the state courts. The order is returnable next Saturday.

REPORTS JEWEL THEFT
Westerly, R. I., June 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Russell Forgan of Chicago today reported to police that jewelry valued at approximately $24,000 had been stolen from Meadow Crest cottage, which she is occupying. She said the jewelry was taken Sunday night or Monday.

COAST WALKOUT
NOT APPROVED
BY FEDERATION

President Wm. Green
Issues Statement
on Huge Strike

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—William A. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today asserted that the general strike at San Francisco was neither ordered nor authorized by the A. F. of L. and has no national significance so far as organized labor is concerned.

Green explained that there had been some confusion in the public mind and he believed some explanation from him to clear up the situation was in order. The text of his statement follows:

"The strike in San Francisco is local in character, possessing no national significance. It originated through an assumption of authority growing out of certain autonomous rights conferred upon local organizations, their representatives ordered the strike and must accept full responsibility for this action."

CAUSE OF DEATH OF BEAUTY QUEEN
STILL UNCERTAIN

Chemists' Tests May
Not Be Completed
Before Saturday

BULLETIN
Norman, Okla., July 18.—(AP)—A murder charge was filed today against Neal Myers, El Reno youth sought for investigation into the death of Marian Mills, University of Oklahoma beauty queen, in a purported effort to prevent motherhood.

County Attorney Paul Undergraff, in drawing up the murder charge specified that the accusation was based on "an attempt to commit abortion by means of unknown instruments and having administered medicine of unknown quality."

Although they could not determine the cause of death, the three physicians who performed the autopsy said they were certain it was not from natural causes.

Norman, Okla., July 18.—(AP)—The exact cause of the death of Marian Mills, former University of Oklahoma beauty queen, who died a week ago in the home of a fraternity cook, still baffled investigators today.

The cook, Mrs. Hase Brown, who is held as a material witness, told authorities the girl had attempted to prevent motherhood with quack remedies.

Guy Y. Williams, university professor of chemistry, said his tests would not be completed before Saturday. He compared his findings with those of Dr. Hugh Jeter, of the university medical school last night, after a post-mortem examination and they agreed that so far the cause of death had not been found.

County Attorney Paul Undergraff, after conferring with the doctors, said the case could be cleared up quickly if Neal Myers, young pharmacist student sought for questioning in the case, could be found.

Myers, traced to Houston last Thursday, thus far has evaded pursuit, despite the plea of his father, an El Reno physician, that he return.

Identify Woman Who Fell Dead in Street
at Paulsboro Tuesday

Paulsboro, N. J., July 18.—(AP)—The body of a young woman, a diamond set in the gold inlay of one of her teeth and a bruise on the back of her head, who fell dead on a Paulsboro street, was identified by relatives early today as that of Mrs. Mabel Peterson, 29, Williamsport, Pa.

W. Clayton Appgar, chief of Gloucester county detectives, said the woman's relatives told him she left home several days ago on an automobile tour with Robert Lynch, a boarder at the Peterson home, who conducted an autopsy, said a blow on the head may have resulted in concussion of the brain, which might have resulted in death. The woman died shortly after midnight Monday.

WILL PLEAD INSANITY
Charleston, Ill.—(AP)—An alleged confession by Mrs. Ann Sandstrom, 38, Indianapolis, Ind., was introduced at the woman's trial for the murder of Carl V. Thompson, 43, a salesman from Indianapolis in a Mattson, Ill., hotel on May 9. Defense attorney William H. Remy indicated that Mrs. Sandstrom would plead temporary insanity.

Seattle Strikers Repulsed Attacking
Docks Today

Seattle, July 18.—(AP)—Strikers and sympathizers said by police to number 1200 stormed pier 41 here today but were repulsed by guards equipped with tear gas bombs. Nine ships at the pier were being loaded by non-union men, guarded by the police lines.

The rioters scattered under clouds of the gas, but quickly reformed for a new assault on pier 40 nearby. The men were reported by authorities to have gathered during the night to demonstrate the use of more than 450 non-union workers on the piers.

Police charged the rioters with a specially equipped automobile fitted to emit nauseating vapors, but it had little effect.

Angered by "Sell Out"
Leaders of the strikers said they were angered by "the sell-out in San Francisco," where leaders of the general strike in that city had suggested arbitration.

Police stopped two rushes in which several hundred men, hurling rocks, penetrated their lines, but did not reach the two docks, 40 and 41.

A blast of tear gas from police guns and bombs swept back the strikers. One striker picked up a bomb to throw at police, but it exploded in his hand, injuring him seriously. Many others affected by the gas.

IN MINNEAPOLIS
Minneapolis, July 18.—(AP)—A new Federal drive to settle the strike of union truck drivers began today.

Father Francis J. Haas, a member of the Federal labor relations board who helped negotiate a peaceful end to Milwaukee's recent electric strike, was enroute from Washington in a government move to settle the drivers' walkout, which has halted virtually all truck traffic in Minneapolis.

Leaving Washington last night, the mediator is expected to arrive here late today by airplane to assist E. H. Dunnigan, labor department conciliator, and Governor Floyd B. Olson in their efforts to arbitrate the matter.

National Guardsmen were in readiness in the downtown district to stop any disorders.

Little Disorder
Striking union workers toured the downtown streets in cars, but with few trucks moving, there was little occasion for disorder. Newspaper, gasoline and milk and market gardeners' trucks were exempt in the tie-up, which began at midnight Monday.

The City Market, center of rioting which cost two lives and many injuries in a previous strike in May, remained closed today. Employers said they did not plan to move any trucks for a day or two.

The troops were called out by Governor Olson, who said he would "discipline either or both conflicting groups if circumstances require."

Pickets stationed at a few of the main roads into the city turned back trucks that sought to enter. There was no disorder.

The truck drivers are demanding wage increase and the right of their union to represent inside workers.

I. C. C. Engineers in Report on Central Illinois Utilities

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission's attorney and engineering staff today recommended that no effort should be made to force the Central Illinois Public Service Company to lower its rates on electricity.

Irvin Rooks, commission attorney, declared that there should be no substantial rate reduction. "If rates are now reduced, the engineers reported at a hearing on the commission's citation for the company to show cause why its charges are not too high in central Illinois."

Rooks said the commission should keep the citation under advisement and take action later if conditions improve.

Relief Bond Issue
is Near Exhaustion

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—State Treasurer John C. Martin today announced that an additional $5,000,000 of revenue notes, part of the $30,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue program, will be sold July 31.

This sale will bring to $25,000,000 the total amount of the relief notes that have been turned over to the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Only $3,500,000 more can be sold under the bond issue act passed by the first special session last fall.

TWO BIG TRUCKS
WERE DAMAGED
HERE YESTERDAY

Faulty Brakes Caused
Second Accident at East City Limits

Two large trucks, both west bound, were wrecked yesterday afternoon as they entered Dixon on the Lincoln Highway at the east city limits. About 3:45 a truck owned and driven by Dan Kaylor of Chicago, who was hauling a heavy load of supplies for Swift & Co., from Chicago to Sioux City, Iowa, turned over on its side as it entered the city on Chicago avenue and eighth street. The highway was blocked for a time as a tow truck righted the overturned truck, which had to be unloaded before it could be hauled back on the highway.

About 6 o'clock last evening, another west bound truck driven by Frank Anderson of St. Paul, Minn., entered the city. The driver was unable to halt his truck, because of faulty brakes until he had ran into the heavy steel cables which were being used to right the first wreck. State Police Officer Mahan and Finn who were directing traffic, held the Minnesota truck until ordering the driver to have the brakes repaired before proceeding further.

Pole Broken Off
The Chicago truck swerved to the west side of Chicago avenue as it made the turn entering the city, struck a large pole which supported a transformer and carried 2,300 volt transmission lines, snapping it off, and then turned over. The driver escaped without injury. Chicago police and state highway officers were at the scene for some time directing the heavy traffic until the wreckage was cleared away. Several packages of vegetable oils, peanut butter, salad dressing and casings in the Chicago truck were broken open. The fire department responded to two calls from the scene of the wreck at 4 and 6 o'clock when it was reported that the brakes on the truck were burning.

This morning at 9:45, cars driven by Horace Hartman and F. J. Finkler sideswiped at the corner of First street and Harrison avenue, both cars being damaged but the drivers being uninjured. Mr. Finkler was about to make a "U" turn when his car was struck by the machine driven by Horace Hartman which was forced to the sidewalk by the crash. A hydrant at the corner of the two streets was damaged.

U. S. TAKES ADVANTAGE
Washington, July 18.—(AP)—NRA today made the first change in President Roosevelt's order allowing a 15 per cent tolerance below code prices on government bids, by reducing this tolerance to 10 per cent in the case of automobile tires and tubes.

ELKS TO COLUMBUS
Kansas City, July 18.—(AP)—Columbus, Ohio, was chosen by the Elks today as the 1935 convention city, when the Los Angeles delegates threw their full support to the Ohioans. The final ballot was Columbus, 616; Miami, Fla., 347.

Service of a writ of quo warrantum on the governor is necessary to complete the supreme court proceedings in which the justices ruled, four to one, last night that Langer's conviction of a conspiracy to solicit political contributions from federal relief workers disqualified him from holding office.

The court plans to issue the writ today, but in the meantime Langer continued to exercise executive authority and the National Guard moved under his orders.

He Will Use Force
Declaring he would oppose "by force if necessary" any attempt to remove him as the actual governor of North Dakota, Langer remained cloistered with his political adherents throughout the night, issuing a statement meanwhile that the declaration of martial law was designed to "prevent bloodshed and rioting." His action followed closely on the heels of noisy demonstrations by Langer adherents.

National Guardsmen numbering about a score took up their posts after the demonstrations.

Possibility of a conflict between state and federal authorities, was seen as a high judicial official said that federal troops may be asked for in view of Langer's defiance of the supreme court order.

"Anything May Happen"
Bismarck, a hot bed of politics, waited uneasily today as the "anything may happen" attitude prevailed throughout the city.

Langer technically still was governor. The court's order last yesterday, declaring Langer, Gov. Olson vested with the powers of government, cannot become effective until issuance of the writ of quo warrantum.

The court's decision was on a four to one majority, only Justice H. Moellring, appointed recently by Langer to fill a vacancy on the bench, holding a divergent view. He reserved the right to file his own dissenting opinion.

Controls Legislature
Langer meantime sent telegrams to all members of the state legis-

Langer forces control both branches of the legislature.
Observers today foresaw a test of strength between the military branch, apparently still under Langer's domination pending service of the writ of writantio and the court which had held his conviction disqualified him from holding office.

Two cars containing 1,000 bushels of potatoes of a very fine quality were received here the first of the week.

FOOLS MACK

Federal troops at Fort Lincoln here are understood to be held in readiness to protect federal workers and property if the state's chaotic political situation flares into violence.

An informed source said officers at the fort have been notified to be prepared for action as rumors circulated that federal relief officers have been threatened. These rumors could not be verified, but it was known that friends of E. A. Wilson, administrator of relief for North Dakota, felt some apprehension for his safety.

Martial law was declared last night by William Langer, ousted governor, to prevent violence, he said, on the part of striking relief road laborers. The governor previously had told the group of about 200 to "raise hell" to enforce their demands.

ILLINOIS LAGS
IN RETURNS OF CORN-HOG DATAThat's AAA Explanation of Delays in Sending Farmers' Checks

Washington, July 18—(AP)—A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog program of the agricultural administration, said today that orders had gone forth from office to use every means to expedite completion of contracts in Illinois.
He made this statement after discovering that only 402 of the expected 120,000 contracts had actually been received and approved from the 102 counties in that state.

Although orders have gone forth to close contracts in 40 counties, Black expressed impatience that Illinois should lag so far behind Ohio, Iowa, Missouri and Indiana. "Illinois," he said, "has been a step or so behind every other state every stage of the program. It got off to a bad start chiefly because there were no assessment records upon which to base allotments."

Answered Protests
Acknowledging communications from Governor Henry Horner of Illinois, who urged that all possible speed be used in mailing the reduction benefits, and from Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, who protested the "arbitrary manner" in which state board officials are rejecting the recommendations of county committees, Black expressed approval of the work of state board members, A. J. Surratt, J. R. Fulkerson, and Paul Johnson.

"It would be a vain attempt," said Black, "to explain why the farmers of Illinois, who certainly need benefit money as much, if not more than those of any other state, are lagging behind."

"We have concluded that farmers, mistaking the nature of our work, believe that when we inquire for further information we are questioning their honesty. This is most unfortunate and most impeding."

Checks "Preferred"
Explaining that he was a native Illinoisan, and therefore "naturally" anxious that his state make a better showing than any other, Black said he had been instrumental in having Illinois benefit checks marked "preferred."

The 402 contracts, and the dates upon which they were received, came from the following counties: Platt, 87, July 11; McLean, 200, July 13; Clark, 38, July 13; Edwards, 9, July 14; Ford, 69, July 17.

Checks for the first installment of the "first phase" of the program should be received by contract signers, Black said, in about ten days.

Illinois farmers are expected by the AAA to cut their hog production an average of 10 per cent, their corn production an average of approximately 2 per cent.

For complying, Illinois farmers will receive for this crop year a total of about $38,000,000, of which $21,000,000 will be for hog reduction, and 17,000,000 for corn reduction.

Apply Less Make-up on Hot Days

By ALICE HART
(NEA Service Staff Writer.)

How to keep from looking shiny, dowdy and ill-tempered is a woman's major concern these hot days.
And the smart girl is the one who faces the problem philosophically.
Discomfort in hot weather is,
with few exceptions, largely a state of mind. Naturally you can't do anything about the heat, but you certainly can stop fighting back. Once you've learned to stop thinking about it and your own discomfort, the battle is half won.
When the weather subject is mentioned for the hundredth time in one day, smile pleasantly but say to yourself, "Yes, but what of it?
It's not going to make me unhappy." When you are relaxed and unconcerned, you will have gone a long way toward greater comfort, physically.

Unless your doctor advises you against it, take at least two baths
a day. Use plenty of warm water and soap and finish with a cool, if not cold, shower. When you have dried, pat on cologne. It is cooling and if you use the perfumed variety, a fine substitute for perfume.

Put away your thick creams and use cooling liquid cleansers instead. Or wash your face with soap and water and finish with skin tonic. Even dry skin can stand soap and water in the summer. Use a minimum of make-up. Many girls go without foundation lotion and some change from cream to dry rouge.

elect. Miss Barbara Sanden and Miss Pauline Fisher of Rockford were out of town guests present.
The marriage of Miss Countryman and Edward A. Jones, State's Attorney of Lee county, will take

Improve Flavor of Ham by Soaking

By MARY E. DAGUE
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

Before the days of scientific refrigeration ham and cured meats of various sorts were the principal summer meats. Now although fresh meats are available in abundance, ham still finds special favor during hot weather.

If you are going to bake a ham or several pounds of Canadian bacon always let it stand in cold water for at least eight hours, depending of course on the size of the cut. Both the flavor and texture of the meat are greatly improved by the soaking.

Cook in Low Temperature
Another point to keep in mind is the necessity of slow cooking.
The curing process dries and hardens the fibers of the meat, so, in order to prevent brittleness, long,
slow cooking is imperative.

Whether the cooking process be boiling, broiling or baking, low temperature must be maintained.
Something tart seems essential as an accompaniment to salted meats, but try to avoid the monotony of always serving the same thing. If you are in a rut and continuously serve pineapple slices with your ham, the following list may help you to concoct some original mixtures or combinations:

Slices of orange rind and allspiced ham, baked apples, chillied spiced apple sauce, broiled bananas, glazed apricots, spiced peaches, ices and sherbets of pineapple, orange, lime or lemon.

Raisin sauce always is liked, but orange sauce, tomato sauce, frozen horseradish sauce and frozen mustard sauce are simple and delicious for summer meals. The combination of horseradish and mustard is splendid, too.

The next time you must resort to cold boiled ham as an emergency try cold rolls. They take only a few minutes to prepare and are quite unusual.

Birthday Surprise Wm. A. Morris

Long Family Reunion Held Sunday Lowell Park

The relatives and descendants of Jacob H. Long, one of Nelson Township's early pioneers, met at Lowell Park Sunday, July 15th, and held their eleventh annual family reunion.

The day was ideal for out-of-door picnicking and brought forth many members of the clan from distant homes. The Dixon members of the House of Long wish to express their pleasure and appreciation of their presence and their willingness to drive many miles to meet with them and enjoy a few very pleasant hours in the company of relatives and friends, and welcome the guests who shared their hospitality.

All were especially happy to have with them the older members. A remarkable feature of the gathering was the presence of two families in which four generations were represented: Mrs. Lavina Long, vigorous at eighty-six,
her son, Charles H., her granddaughter, Mrs. Delores Ferger and her great granddaughter little Dorothy Louis Ferger, two years old.

The second family of four generations were Mrs. Matilda Sutherland, seventy-nine, Mrs. Bessie Struckman, Mrs. Faith Barnhart and Betty Earline Barnhart, six years old.

Fifty-nine members and friends gathered at the family board and enjoyed the delicious picnic dinner. Many expressions of appreciation were heard of the capable efforts of the committee in adding to the comfort and enjoyment of the gathering.

After dinner the business meeting was held and the following officers elected for 1935:
Honorary President, Mrs. Matilda
Sutherland.
Vice President, M. L. Long.
Sec. Treas., Mrs. Nina Haas.

Executive Committee, Clarence
R. Wilson, chairman; LaForest
Meredith, Don Long, William
Ferger and Henry Schumacher.
Games and social chat were enjoyed until the shadows began to lengthen, and with farewells, the hope was expressed that all may be permitted to meet again, and that loved ones absent this year may find it possible to come on wardrobe is permeated with the perfume of jasmine.

Along with the vogue for flower perfumes, face and hand make-up has taken on a more subtle tone.
Real sun-tan in a deep sun-baked hue is "out." "Beige" a soft cream-in-the-coffee hue—is the thing this year. Many women use it with carefully blended color on the cheeks giving a ripened peach effect.

New Gold for Eyes
Lips are still brilliant, but the season's choice is a light bright color, shading a touch more to the orange than the bluish tint, and more youthful and becoming than the darker color.

Eye-shadows are still much in vogue. There is a new gold which gives a glamorous touch to the eyes by night, while blues, silver greens, and browns are much used by day.

Brilliant red polish is less seen on fashionable nails these days.
Sometimes it is replaced by coral or rose, sometimes by no varnish at all. Some women are "giving their nails a rest," have gotten out the buffers which lay long neglected in dressing table drawers and are putting a natural polish on their nails.

Nails themselves are often shorter than they were this winter, for many women think the extremely long pointed nails is less in harmony with summer clothes and settings.

So. Dixon Unit At Hank Home

The South Dixon Unit of the Farm Bureau Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hank Friday evening.

A large number of members and visitors were present.
The chairman called the meeting to order. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

After the roll call, a splendid program was enjoyed.

—Miss Elsie Shrock, Miss Frances
Miller and Donald Miller.
Play—Gold Dust Twins—Mrs.
Walter Ortigiesen and Mrs. Arnold Gottel.

Information was given by Mr.
Wetly on how to handle sealed corn. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were then served.

The club will meet again Aug.
10th, with Mr. and Mrs. August Shick.

Hardin-Maxton Wedding Tuesday

A pretty wedding took place in Polo Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'- clock at the parsonage to Lutheran church, the pastor, Rev. C. D.
Kammerer, officiating at the single ring ceremony which united Miss Mary Hardin of Dixon, in marriage to William Maxton, Jr., of Rockford. Miss Orsa Butler of Dixon and Floyd Ford of Dixon attended the young people. The bride was attractively attired in rose color and Miss Butler in pale blue. Many friends will hasten to extend best wishes to the young people for happiness.

"I Made For My Bureau..."

(Being The Domestic Secrets of An American Housewife)

By NATALIE ABBOTT

MY BUREAU drawer is in a continuous mess and I always get one black and one blue glove when I want to look particularly well turned out. I became tired of having weekly clean-up days, so I crocheted this little case to hold gloves, handkerchiefs and strings of beads. The background is a plain color knitting and crochet cotton with a contrasting color for the tie-shaped strap. It is also very convenient for traveling in a suitcase.
Here are the directions.

Materials: 1 ball pearl cotton No.
5 white or ecru, 1 ball of any boll-fast color No. 5. Steel crochet hook
No. 4.

Bottom Piece. White, ch 83, turn.
1st row: 1 d c in 4th ch from hook,
1 d c in each ch across row, turn.
2nd row: Ch 3, 1 d c in next d c, 1
d c in each d c across row, turn.
3rd and subsequent rows: Repeat 2nd row until straight strip measures 11 inches long. Striped piece for top, white and a color. Start with color. Ch 83, turn. 1st row: 1
s c in 7th ch from hook, * ch 3, skip 2 sts of foundation ch, 1 s c in next, repeat from * to end of ch.
turn. 2nd row: Ch 4, 1 d c in 1st ch, 3, * 1 d c in next sp, ch 3, 1 d c in same sp. Repeat from * to end of
row. 1 d c only in last sp, turn.
3rd row: Ch 4, 1 s c in 1st ch, 3 sp, * ch 3, 1 s c in next ch, 3 sp, repeat from * to next to last ch, 3 sp, 1 d c in last sp, turn. 4th row: Same as 2nd row. 5th and 6th rows: Attach white thread and work same as 3rd
row. 7th to 16th rows incl: Repeat from 2nd row through 6th row twice, alternating 3 colored rows with 2 white rows, thus completing 16 rows. 17th row: Same as 2nd
row. 18th row: Ch 4, 1 s c in 1st ch, 3 sp, * ch 3, 1 s c in next ch, 3 sp, repeat from * to end of row. 19th row: Same as 2nd row. 20th and 21st rows: Same as 18th row. 22nd to 31st rows incl: Repeat rows 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 twice more. Strip should now measure about 1 1/4 in.

Crochet straight for 15 rows, making no decreases at end of rows. Fasten thread. Work opposite end the same way, crocheting from last row through 31st row, and then sew narrow ends together, making top piece 15 inches long. Finish
open.

Cast for Jewels. Use colored thread. Ch 4, join. 1st row: * Ch 3, 1 s c over ring, repeat from * 4 times. 2nd row: Ch 3, 1 d c in 1st ch, 3 sp, * ch 3, 1 d c in same ch, 3 sp, 1 d c in next ch, 3 sp. Repeat from * all around, with last d c in ch, 3 sp at beginning of row. Continue as spiral. 3rd row: * Ch 3, 1 s c in ch, 3 sp, ch 3, 1 s c in triangular sp between ch, 3 sp, repeat from * all around. 4th row: * Ch 3, 1 s c in ch, 3 sp, repeat from * all around. Repeat rows 2, 3, and 4 until circle is 4 1/2 inches in diameter. Finish with 2nd row. Crochet a second circle like first, lay two together with ch, 3 sps matching.
Join edges with 3 s c over ch, 3 sps and ch-1 between. Leave 2 inches
open.

Catherine Rorer, Miss Ann Hoffman, Mrs. Willard Thompson, Mrs.
Don Billig and Mrs. M. L. Dysart.

Traveling Around America

SKY VIEWS OF THE ANDES

SPECTACULAR views like this make the flight across the Andes one of the most thrilling air trips in the world. The route commencing at Panama, runs down the west coast of South America and from Santiago, capital of Chile, crosses this mighty mountain chain to Buenos Aires, capital of Argentina, and Montevideo, capital of Uruguay, over or between the most beautiful of the Andean peaks, many of which tower 20,000 feet above sea level.

This cordillera, which forms the backbone of South America, for centuries has made communication between coasts extremely difficult. Although the overland distance between Valparaiso and Buenos Aires is less than 900 miles there was a time when the only way to travel between the two ports was to go by sailing vessel way down around Cape Horn, or by steamer through the Straits of Magellan which shortened the voyage by one thousand miles, or to follow the mule trail overland across the icy peaks—any one of these trips consuming several weeks. Then, in 1910, the Trans-Andine Railway was opened which cuts the time to 87 hours. Still later the sky route was initiated which, with its luxurious Panagra airliners, has cut the time to eight hours and has become the Trans-Andine route most favored by travelers taking the weekly 'Round South America' cruises from New York and California.

than to be psychanalyzed—the Maker of the harp does not work with fumbling fingers.

If suppression is so dangerous why is it not as bad to hide high aspirations as it is to conceal evil impulses and desires? Fear, said a recent writer, is like an insect that feeds on dirt. If you clean out your soul, there is nothing left to live on.

God, because He is God, cannot be proved by logic; but if we live for the best things, He proves Himself against all denials.

Living Our Everyday Lives

(By Dr. Joseph P. Newton)

Life is just one choice after another; if we do not get what we like, we must try to like what we get.

To be happy in our work we must be fit for it, we must not have too much of it, and we must have a sense of success in it.

The human race is divided into two classes, those who do things and those who sit back and ask why it was not done another way.

"When shall we become that which we are?" cried a poet; "we who are immortal spirits live in the midst of fears and phantoms."

Humor creates, we combine; but the best combination is a mixture of love and wit which laughs with life, not at it.

Be sure your brakes are in order, not only when you drive an auto, but when you make a speech or tell a story.

A man and wife are like a pair of shears, so joined that they cannot be separated, but always punishing anyone who comes between them.

In a recent address Lloyd George said, "No poor man can afford to be ignorant; leave that to the rich."

Laugh every time you feel tickled, said Josh Billings, and laugh once in a while anyhow, so as not to forget how.

If we were not all hypocrites, putting our best foot forward, and hiding our faults, the world would be more miserable than it is.

It is better to say our prayers

Clara, Lu 'n' Em Try Milking Mechanical Cow

Clara, Lu 'n' Em, popular radio stars, secure first-hand information on mechanical milking while visiting the International Harvester exhibit at A Century of Progress Exposition. Here we see the girls alongside of the company's famous mechanical cow, a perfect reproduction of a pure-bred Holstein that is so lifelike in its appearance and actions as to start many a lively argument among the spectators crowded around her. In addition to being milked continuously, she moves her head and ears, chews her cud, blinks her eyes, switches her tail, breathes, moos, and gives milk.

MILK FOR GROWTH

Medicine is ever on the lookout for spurious beliefs, whose only validity is age and repetition. It is in this spirit, therefore, that what today is taken as a self-evident fact, namely that milk is essential to growth, was recently subjected to a large-scale test.

The original test was performed in Lanarkshire, England. There 5,000 children between the ages of 5 and 12 were given in addition to their common diet a quantity of raw, Grade A milk from tuberculin-tested cows. Another group of 5,000 children received the same milk after it had been submitted to low temperature pasteurization.

The growth and development of these 10,000 children, receiving supplemental milk, were compared with 10,000 children who did not get any extra milk. The results, carefully gathered, showed that the addition of milk to the diet led to an increase in the rate of growth as reflected both by height and weight.

The general facts revealed by this study were accepted without dispute, but there were some who were of the opinion that raw milk had a more stimulating effect on the rate of growth than pasteurized milk.

Subsequently, therefore, studies were made, this time in America in which only children who started with strictly comparable heights and weights were studied. There were three groups: one group fed raw milk, another pasteurized milk and another had no additional milk.

The subsequent growth and development of the children were then studied, and it was found that those who have extra milk generally gain in height and in weight over those who do not, and that there is no specific evidence that raw milk has any advantage over pasteurized or pasteurized over raw milk, as far as growth is concerned.

The question of the value of pasteurization depends upon the elimination of possible sources of disease and in most communities is by all odds the safest milk.

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison any one's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the Ford V-8 is the best car we have ever made.

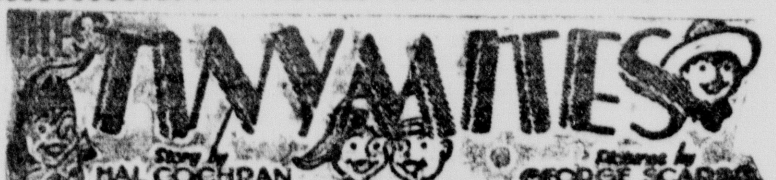

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car place it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.

Henry Ford

A letter from Mr. Henry Ford published by the Associated Ford Dealers of this territory.

Poor Duncy! When the bubble broke, the others thought it was a fine joke, but he was very startled, and he cried, "I've had enough."

"You all can count on me no more to take part in this silly war. It was fun when everything went right, but now it's much too rough."

"Why, what is the matter?" we Dotty said. "A bubble that was overhead just broke and gave you quite a scare. There is really no harm done."

"Oh, no!" snapped we Duncy. "Well, I hope that some day your eyes smart with soap. Then you'll agree, I am positive that it isn't any fun."

"Perhaps, by now, you realize that bubble soap is in my eyes. Gee, where is a pail of water I can use to wash it out?"

"It is smarting like the dickens, now. I must get quick relief somehow." Then everyone was startled when they heard kind Goldy shout,

"Say! I am a war nurse. Come with me and we will very shortly see what can be done to stop the pain. I'll do the best I can."

"A fine hospital tent's nearby. That is the proper place to try." "Okay," replied we Duncy. Then up to the tent they ran.

Soon Goldy said, "I shortly plan to wash your funny face real clean. Then you can rinse your eyes a bit. That ought to turn the trick."

"The bubble soap, I have no doubt, will very quickly run right out. It won't be long, I'm positive, till you'll be feeling slick."

The plan worked out just as she said. We Duncy held his little head real steady while his face was washed. Then he exclaimed, "Now, quit!"

"The soap is gone, I feel all right. Now I am sure I can sleep tonight. Gee, as a nurse, fair Goldy, you know how to do your bit!"

AMERICA'S OLD DREAM, SECURITY FOR ALL.
Just how far the fall congressional elections will turn into a national referendum on Mr. Roosevelt's new program for social security is a matter for the political wisecracks to forecast.

At this distance, however, two things seem more or less evident.

First, the argument is likely to be over the way of reaching this goal, rather than over the wisdom of trying to reach it at all.

Second, the tentatively outlined program looks very much like a simple extension of the oldest and most tenaciously held dream in American life.

Security for the individual in America, as Mr. Roosevelt sees it, seems to call for three things: Productive employment, protection against misfortune, and proper housing.

Over the details of this program there is room for vast argument; over the way of putting it into effect there is even more. The most conservative of capitalists and the reddist of radicals could endorse these general aims in complete accord, but they'd be apt to have a fine row trying to settle on the best way of attaining them.

Nevertheless, it is a fine thing to have this very general goal set up as an objective.

This kind of security is exactly the sort of thing that led most of our ancestors to come to the new world in the first place. They were under economic pressure in Europe; they felt themselves to be at the mercy of forces that they could never control; over here, in a new land, they hoped that they could construct a society in which human beings could have less fear of hardship, of poverty, and of hunger.

The belief in that dream has been responsible for most of the optimism which is so typical of the American spirit. We have felt, for more than a century, that we were somehow building a society here in which the common man would get a better break than he ever got elsewhere.

Seeking to protect the common man against unemployment, against accidents, and against the traditional penalty of old age, and trying to guarantee that he shall have a decent home to live in—what is this but an effort to make the old American dream come true?

For the next decade, at least, we shall be arguing about the best way of doing this. Maybe we'll try Mr. Roosevelt's way and maybe we'll try somebody else's.

But there can be little doubt that in one way or another we shall do our utmost to make the dream come true.

I am confident that the young people of the country will not submit to regimentation and the domination of a colossal bureaucracy directed by men who never were elected and who hold no mandate from the people. — Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

GIANTS ARE NOT WORRIED AS BUD PARMALEE SHOWS

End "Crucial Series" With Cubs in New York Today

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants—the club which has an amazing habit of coming through in a pinch—moved into the final game of their duel with Chicago's second-place Cubs today with the same two-game lead which they had at the start and with even better reason to believe they will stay on top.

The extra reason came from LeRoy (Doc) Parmelee, the sturdy young pitcher whose feats of hurling and hitting gave the Giants an even break in yesterday's doubleheader. Parmelee, who hadn't won a game since April 10 and had been inactive for two months of an appendicitis operation, not only held Lonnie Warneke even in the mound duel but broke up a tie game by socking a home run with the bases full. That clout, after Warneke had passed Gus Mancuso to get at the pitcher, gave New York a 5 to 3 decision in the first game.

Lee Bests Hubbell

The second game was a different story as young Bill Lee outpitched Carl Hubbell by a 2 to 1 count. But even in taking his sixth defeat of the season Hubbell showed the 45-800 fans the kind of hurling that usually wins. He gave only five hits in the seven innings he worked but Billy Herman made two of them and turned each into a run while Lee spaced the seven Giant blows effectively.

The third-place Cardinals lost a good chance to overhaul the leaders when they dropped a 7 to 6 decision to Brooklyn on Len Koenig's homer in the seventh. The blow came after circuit drives by Jim Collins and Joe Medwick had helped overcome an early Dodger lead. The Phillies completed the National League program by trouncing Cincinnati 7 to 0 for their fifth straight victory as Curt Davis pitched seven-hit ball. Pittsburgh and Boston had an open date.

In American League

In the American League the Tigers and Yankees returned to the point at which their "crucial" series ended two days ago when the league leaders beat out the Senators 4 to 3 and the Yanks took a 13 to 5 drubbing from the Indians. Despite his wildness Carl Fischer pitched six-hit ball for Detroit and escaped trouble when his mates gave him superb backing after scoring three runs in the sixth on four hits and an error. Cleveland's batters hit almost everything offered by Johnny Broaca, Danny MacFayden and Burleigh Grimes as they piled up 17 hits for their victory.

Ferrell Beats Sox

Wesley Ferrell picked up a share of the day's pitching laurels when he limited the White Sox to six hits and chalked up his seventh victory for Boston against one defeat. The score was 4 to 2.

Connie Mack's Athletics equalled the major record when three of them, Bob Johnson, Jimmie Foxx and Pinky Higgins, hit successive homers off Jack Knott in the fourth but they couldn't win a ball game from the Browns, who came out on the long end of a 7 to 4 score. The blows were the 28th of the season for Johnson and the 97th for Foxx.

MISS JACOBS IS BACK HOME; WILL ENTER TOURNEYS

Says She Had Wrenched Ankle When Beaten at Wimbledon

New York, July 18 —(AP)—While Helen Jacobs suffered one of the greatest disappointments of her career when she failed to win the All-England championship at Wimbledon, the Berkeley, Cal., tennis girl was back on her native shores today, brimful of hope and confident she will retain her national title next month.

Miss Jacobs, who lost to Dorothy Round in the Wimbledon finals, returned to the United States last evening on the liner Olympic, and planned almost immediately to launch into a campaign to whip herself into condition for her title defense at Forest Hills August 13-18.

Brown as a berry after several weeks under a warm sun in England and France, Helen revealed she had wrenched her right ankle in the finals of the French hard-court championship against Margaret (Peggy) Scriven of England and played in the Wightman Cup and Wimbledon matches under the handicap of that injury. Toward the close of the British championships she developed a heavy cold.

To Start Campaign

"My ankle is practically recovered although it still is strapped, and I am all over the cold," Miss Jacobs said. "I feel just great and plan to play in the Seabright and East-hampton tournaments in preparation for the National championship." The Seabright Invitation begins Monday.

With a national title already to her credit and confident of retaining it this summer, although she fears Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass. and Betty Nuthall of England, Miss Jacobs said her ambition now is to win the Wimbledon crown.

While she was in England, Miss Jacobs watched the American Davis Cup squad work out and predicted an easy victory for the United States in the interzone final with Australia beginning Saturday, but said our chances of wresting the international trophy from England depended upon what kind of tennis Fred Perry, John Bull's star, is playing at the time.

Babe Ruth's big bat boomed lustily, and away out there over Navin Field wall in Detroit sailed the 700th official home run of his career. Leonard Beals was the lucky guy who recovered the ball, and besides getting into the park with the apple, he received $20 and an autographed sphere from the Babe for retrieving it. The Babe, Leonard, and the ball are shown above.

JOHNSON'S election went to the Senate when no candidate received a majority of the electoral vote. He served during Van Buren's administration. Capt. William E. Kepner, famous stratosphere flyer, commanded the ZMC-2 on its first flight. The ship now belongs to the U. S. navy. Rather than remelt the waste soap shavings, Babbitt packed them into boxes and sold them to laundries and hotels. It was an immediate success.

KNEE-ACTION

rops a 22-year record of engineering progress that makes Chevrolet the best riding car in the low-price field

Year after year, it's been the same story: Chevrolet FIRST with the NEWEST and BEST! Chevrolet leading—others following. Chevrolet out in front with the latest proved advancements. Self-starter! Sliding gear transmission! Streamlined design! It was Chevrolet aggressiveness and progressiveness that forced all low-priced cars eventually to adopt these and other major improvements. And now, this year, comes the climax of Chevrolet's engineering leadership: the Knee-Action ride! This newest of motoring sensations is a marvel of smooth, easy, gentle motion. No other ride in the world can even compare with it. It makes Chevrolet far and away the best riding car in the low-price field. Have you noticed how America has taken to the Knee-Action ride? In the first 6 months, demand for Chevrolet cars sent production to the highest total attained by any automobile during 1934.

WILL ORGANIZE HOME OWNERS IN ILLINOIS LEAGUE

Object Is to Exempt Small Homes from All Taxation

Flora, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—The nucleus of what is intended to be a state-wide organization designed to ultimately bring about tax exemptions for small home owners was established here last night with the forming of unit number one of the "Non-Partisan Home Owners' League of Illinois."

Home owners from various sections of Clay county and Wayne county attended the meeting here last night, the first of a series to be held throughout the state by the new tax reform organization which was granted its charter only a few weeks ago.

L. M. Wood of Flora, president of the Non-Partisan Home Owners League, in outlining the purposes of the league, said organizers would be sent into all sections of the state.

Seek Amendment

"The purpose of the league, which is a non-profit organization and in which only the secretary receives a small salary, is to work for an amendment to the constitution which will exempt the residence properties of Illinois home owners from regular taxation," Wood told the gathering of home owners.

The president of the league said it is the aim of the organization to secure tax exemptions on all homes, where the owner actually resides in his own home, up to $5000 of the assessed value of the property. Total tax exemption on farm residences and one acre of ground is also sought by the league, he said.

To Form Local Units

Wood said organizers will be commissioned by officers of the organization to form local units in every city and county in Illinois and to solicit members among the home owners. The membership fee he said would be $1.00 to cover clerical expenses and expenses of the organizers.

The league also seeks the abolition of the present sales tax and is launching a movement to substitute it with a one per cent "sales and service tax" which would effect professional men as well as merchants.

"The down state tax payers," Wood said, "now have no voice in the distribution of the present sales tax and Chicago is getting the lion's share. Under our plan the tax payers will have a voice as to where the money shall go."

The league's president explained that under the Illinois constitution there are no provisions for tax exemptions, thus it would be necessary to amend the constitution by a vote of the people.

Soviet Need Gives Fair Rare Art

"Le Mezzetin" by Watteau, was, for more than 150 years one of the most admired pictures in the famous collection of Catherine the Great in the Winter Palace, Leningrad. Directors of the Art Institute wherein it now hangs as a part of the exhibition in connection with the new World's Fair, are especially pleased with it, and four other canvases from the same collection. The only reason they are shown in Chicago today is that the Soviet government, faced with a great shortage of funds, has quietly sold some of its finest works of art during the last few years, as a painless way to obtain added revenue.

Ruth Given 2000th. Base on Balls Yesterday by Indians

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Thirty-four miles of free transportation to first base through the wildness of caution of American League pitchers—that's Babe Ruth's record to date.

The Babe received his 2000th base on balls in yesterday's game with the Cleveland Indians and thus reached another milestone in perhaps the most remarkable career in baseball history.

Eleven times Ruth has led the American League in total walks. Twelve times he has been given more than 100 free tickets in a season, setting an all-time record of 170 in 1923. The two walks he was given yesterday brought his total for this season to 67.

RELIEF FUNDS MAJOR PROBLEM UP TO ASSEMBLY

Where to Raise Additional Money Question at Stake

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—One of the biggest problems now before the Horner administration is that of finding some source of unemployment relief funds for next winter.

The federal government is expected to continue both its financial grants and its insistence that the state provide a large part of the money.

State relief money is being spent rapidly and another appropriation will undoubtedly be essential "before the snow flies."

The legislature at recent sessions has been highly critical of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. So pronounced was this feeling last fall that Horner had to agree to appointment of a legislative commission to investigate relief expenditures before the $30,000,000 bond issue could be voted.

Commission Friendly

This commission, although apparently dominated by legislators friendly to the state administration, has through its chairman, Senator L. O. Williams of Clinton, warned that it will be virtually impossible to obtain legislative sanction for another bond issue.

The relief commission was also warned that its expenditures must be curtailed.

It is doubtful if the legislature will sanction further diversion of gasoline tax funds, the method used in raising $50,000,000 of the $140,000,000 placed at the disposal of relief officials during the past two years. Part of these funds, intended originally for use on highways, are now being diverted to schools.

May Spread Sale, Tax

Critics of gas tax diversion claim there will be virtually nothing left to divert to relief this winter.

But since money must be found, many persons believe the only method is to spread the base of the two per cent sales or retailers' occupational tax. This would require that other occupations also be taxed.

That promises to be one of the biggest issues before the fourth special session, if it is called this fall, and the 59th general assembly which convenes in January.

POWER PARADE DRAWS CROWDS HERE TUESDAY

Unique Procession Was Witnessed by Many Hundreds Here

The Standard Oil Company's Live Power Parade remained in Dixon over night and departed this morning travelling east on the Lincoln Highway to the district headquarters at Joliet. J. W. Schmitt, district representative of Joliet, was in charge of the operations while in Dixon.

H. E. Hanson, manager of the Joliet district, is in charge of the parade while in this section of Illinois and he had as his guests during the parade and at dinner last evening: Mayor George C. Dixon, City Attorney Martin J. Gannon and Commissioner A. C. Moeller. P. M. Gardner, advertising representative from the Joliet district offices accompanied the tour.

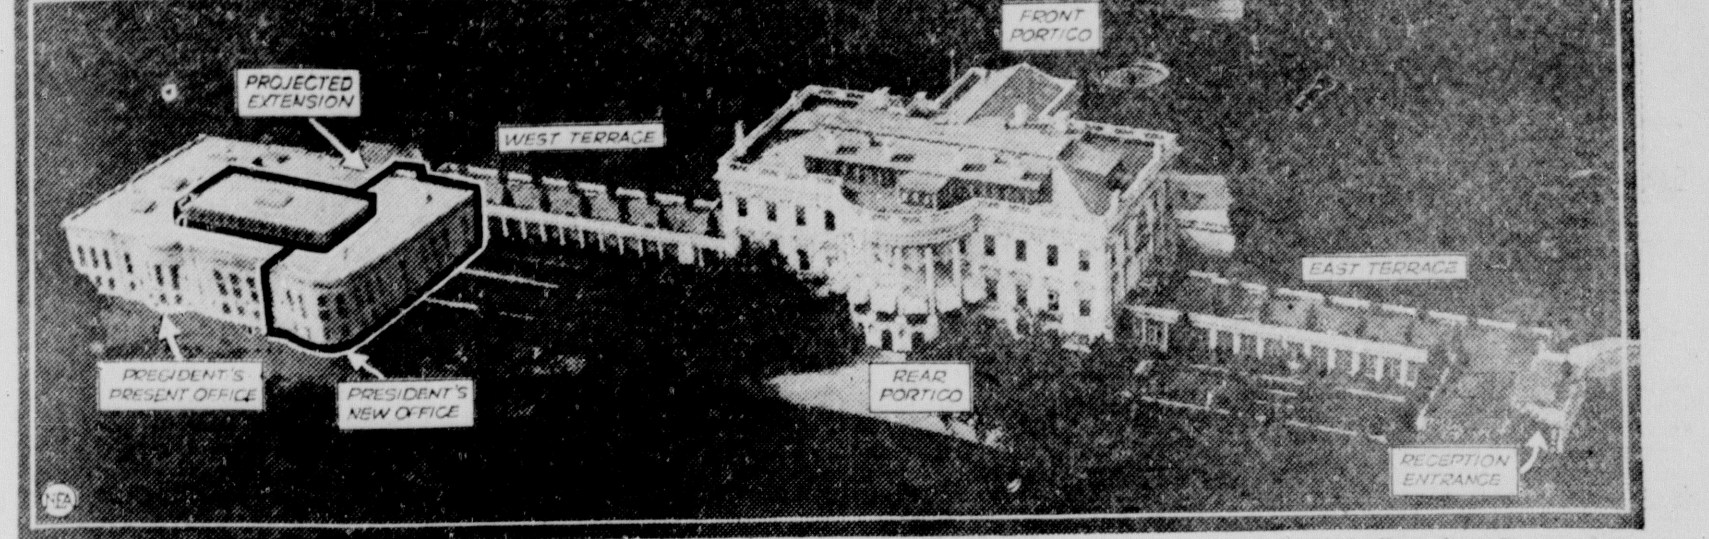

The crowd which greeted the parade equalled that of many circuses that have visited this city. The streets along the line of march were crowded with spectators and the children's attention was centered largely on a live black bear which formed an important part of the parade. The dozen floats were accompanied by three of the new style tank trucks which have been adopted by the Standard company for use in this section, and several of the local automobile dealers entered new model cars in the parade.

A comic band, which is accompanying the parade through northern Illinois, furnished a fine concert at the parking space on River street last evening which attracted a large gathering who enthusiastically encircled the several numbers.

Convict, Allowed to Attend Funeral of Brother, Flees

Calumet City, Ill.—(AP)—Police today were searching for Joseph Wachewicz, 42, former resident here and a convict at the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, who broke away from his guard at the funeral of his brother, Frank, and fled. The guard, Harry Westfall, removed Wachewicz's handcuffs, apparently moved at the prisoner's display of grief, but at the cemetery Wachewicz took to his heels.

ROOSEVELT NEEDS MORE WORKING ROOM; HE'LL GET IT

For the fourth time since 1900, the executive offices of the White House in Washington are being enlarged, while President Roosevelt is on his vacation. Even the additions built by Presidents Theodore Roosevelt, Taft and Hoover have not supplied the necessary working space, so $135,000 more is to be spent. The picture above shows the changes to be made in the general White House layout, with an extension along nearly the entire east side of the office building and a second story added.

ROOSEVELT IS NEAR HAWAII: DID NOT FISH

Is Believed to Have Received Reports of Coast Strike

Aboard U. S. S. Houston with President Roosevelt, July 18.—(AP)—Keeping closely in touch with national affairs, chiefly the San Francisco strike and Pacific coast maritime disputes, President Roosevelt continued today over the Great Circle route toward Hawaii.

The President is believed to have received full wireless reports on attempts to negotiate settlement of the strikes, but he made no public comment.

The cruisers Houston and New Orleans slowed their pace to 18 knots, a speed which would bring them July 24 to Napoosoo where Roosevelt will get this first glimpse of the western side of the island of Hawaii. The cruisers will then proceed to Hilo and Honolulu.

The route being followed will bring the two crafts nearly 2000 miles south of San Francisco by noon today.

At Clipperton island yesterday the President refrained from fishing, but his son Franklin and a party dared the dangerous coral reefs of the island and were rewarded with a catch of tuna and pompano. After spending the afternoon near the island, the cruisers got under way again at 5 P. M.

OCEAN CARRIERS OF MAIL MAY BE GIVEN HEARINGS

Before Contracts are Cancelled by Post Office Department

Washington, July 18—(AP)—The system of subsidies to the American merchant marine is expected to undergo far-reaching changes within six months.

Steamship companies which carry the mail probably will be paid on a weight basis, a change which officials hope will save the post office department $10,000,000 a year.

As to new means of helping build up the merchant marine, observers pointed to a recent report of Secretary of Commerce Roper. After recommending that the present ideas of mail subsidies be scrapped, he suggested specific subsidies to lines in direct competition with foreign interests. These subsidies would be for building and operating vessels.

The White House announced last night that President Roosevelt has ordered Postmaster General Farley to report within six months whether existing ocean and foreign air mail contracts should be modified or scrapped.

Will Grant Hearings
The holders of these contracts will be given public hearings. This is a departure from the procedure followed in cancelling domestic air mail contracts. Critics complained at the time that no hearings were granted.

Officials estimated that if ocean mail had been carried on a poundage basis last year the cost to the government would have been $3,000,000. They said the actual cost under the system of virtual subsidies was $26,000,000.

One company, post office figures showed, received $363,000 for carrying mail which would have cost only $25,52 on a poundage basis.

MORALS OF DAVE ALLEN SUBJECT OF PRIOR TALK

Defense in Filmland
"Wild Party" Trial
Gets Inning

Los Angeles, July 18—(AP)—Testimony that the morals of Dave Allen, former head of the Central Casting Bureau, were under discussion long before his indictment growing out of alleged "wild party" was before a Superior Court jury today.

Appearing as the first of a number of defense witnesses which Attorney Jerry Geisler said would prove state charges a "frame up" was Mrs. Myra McKinney Russell, secretary of the Motion Picture Supporting & Extra Players' Association. She testified that Miss June DeLong, film extra and the state's star witness, came to her office and wanted to "make a statement concerning the morals of Dave Allen," four months before he was indicted by the grand jury on charges of an offense against public morals.

Allen and Miss Gloria Marsh, red-haired actress, are accused of participating with Miss DeLong in an immoral party at her apartment last April 26.

Mrs. Russell said the state's witness discussed the matter with her for three hours.

"I finally told her to go to the District Attorney," the witness said.

Defense attorneys allege Allen was "framed" by parties seeking his dismissal as head of the casting bureau.

Lack of Gasoline Didn't Stop Young 'Teamster'

When teamsters joined the strike movement in San Francisco, any and every sort of vehicle was pressed into service, and that lad at the left tried to do his bit to see that his mother had bread at home. But gasoline stocks quickly ebbed, and most gas stations could give you only a shrug, as the fellow at the right is doing to an anxious motorist.

STONE OF THE SUN

HERE is one of the earliest forerunners of our town clock. It is the famous Aztec Calendar Stone, or Stone of the Sun, by which Montezuma's people once told time. Back in the days when Cortez arrived in Mexico to find the country already inhabited, when Mexico City was a Venetian-like place of sparkling canals enlivened with busy barges, of paved streets lined with stone buildings, and a plaza dominated by the ornate palace of Montezuma and the great sacrificial temple—this Calendar Stone reposed in a wall of the ancient temple of Tenochtitlan.

"CIVIL WAR" IS JOHNSON'S NAME FOR HUGE STRIKE

NRA Chief Speaks His Mind in Address at California U.

Berkeley, Calif., July 18—(AP)—"Civil war" is Hugh S. Johnson's name for the general strikes in the San Francisco Bay area.

The right of dissatisfied men to strike against a recalcitrant employer is inviolate," the NRA chief said here yesterday in an address at the University of California. "This government has supported it and will support it to the limit. But the general strike is quite another matter. It is a threat to the community. It is a menace to government. It is civil war."

The interstate character of the Pacific coast maritime strike, from which the general strikes have developed, was cited by the administrator as the basis for the federal government's interest in the situation.

"We learned during the war," he went on, "that there are worse weapons than great guns, and that economic strangulation is one of them. One side of a warring business, element can no more use it than it could go into the street and shoot innocent bystanders down in cold blood with machine guns."

"You just can't do it in this free country. It just won't work. If the responsible elements of organized labor do not purge themselves of this blight, immediately, they will set the clock of labor organization back ten years."

BAKERS ENDED LOSING STREAK LAST EVENING

Beat Oregon's Star Twirler 5 to 2 at Dixon Airport

The Beier Bakers broke a long losing streak last evening before a large crowd at the Airport field by defeating Oregon with their star hurler, Schultz of Belvidere, by a score of 5 to 2. The visitors were humiliated in the sixth inning when four tallies were accounted for with two on the bases. Shirl Miller connected with one of Schultz' offerings for a long home run, which accounted for three tallies, one following his effort. Oregon scored both of their runs in the third inning which were due to errors. Large, a new hurler, was on the mound for the Bakers and pitched a good game, fanning but two of the Oregon batters, while Schultz struck out 18 of the locals. The score by innings:

Dixon 0 0 0 0 0 4 0 1 x-5
Oregon 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0-2
Batteries—Large and Underwood for Dixon; Schultz and Hofaker, Oregon.

Princeton administered a severe walloping to Sterling at Princeton, the final score being 17 to 6. The Bureau county team piled up four home runs in one inning. Prince leading in the batting with six hits in as many trips to the plate.

Rock Falls went up against some stiff opposition at Ashton but emerged the winner and maintained the league leadership, by a score of 6 to 3.

Cause of Tides

Tides are caused by the gravitational attraction, or pull, of the sun and moon on the water and on the earth itself. The close relation that the times of high water bear to the times of the moon's meridian passage shows that the moon's influence on tides is much greater than that of the sun; it has been estimated that it is two and one-half times as great. The result of this attraction of the moon is to draw or heap up the water in the parts of the earth nearest it. The surface of the earth rises and falls twice in a lunar day of about 24 hours and 52 minutes. The tides do not always rise to the same height, but every fortnight, after the new and full moon, they become much higher than they were in the alternate weeks. These high tides are called spring tides and the low ones neap tides.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE TERRY comes to New York determined to show her home town Marburg, and especially AMY JACKSON, that she can make a success of her life. Amy had been her best friend until HOWARD JACKSON broke the engagement Jane had forced upon him and married Amy. In New York Jane obtains a position in a real estate office and soon is making a large income.

She has an affair with ROGER THORPE who is married but tries to hide it. When he offers to bear the expense of their child she contemptuously dismisses him. She confides in Amy, realizing she is her only friend. Jane insists on giving her daughter away and Amy takes the child, promising never to reveal its parentage. The baby is named NANCY. For two years Jane stays away from Marburg. Then, on a business trip, she goes to Amy's home and asks to see her daughter. Amy is afraid Jane will insist on taking the child.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

"I CAN'T stand these boys enlisting," said Howard. "They're so young."

"More than half the graduating class," said Professor Lowe gloomily. "Lord knows how many of the undergraduates. They're afraid it'll be over before they get in."

They were sitting in Professor Lowe's study. Amy and her parents and her husband. The Sunday night music was over and all the others had gone.

Mrs. Lowe was knitting a stocking, first among that deluge of amateur work which was done so eagerly by women who longed to help and who knew nothing else, and who tolled away at it to appease this longing, even when they felt sure of the result's futility.

Amy stayed quiet, watching Howard, trying to keep all expression from her face. She knew that he had been wondering, ever since America had joined the Allies, if he ought to enlist. He did not want to wait to be drafted. They had talked about it very little. She had offered no objection. She left him free to make his decision. But it was tearing her heart to agony.

Mrs. Lowe went on: "A war to end war. What a catch phrase! It's a war to breed war. Here I sit knitting stockings to put on the feet of a young man marching to his death. We must keep his feet warm as he goes! I am ashamed of myself and all the other women like me."

"My dear," said Professor Lowe, "your Quaker ancestors are coming out strong tonight. Of course it's the pagantry and the false glory that keep war going on, combined with the fact that the individual can make no effective protest. Marching men hypnotize us. If peace ever offers anything as roving and as glamorous as a military parade with colors flying and bands playing and the long lines of men stepping in time—why, war's done for!"

"We must go," she said. "Old Mrs. Pearce is staying with Nancy and she hates to be out too late." "I always offer to go home with her," said Howard, "but that makes ### no bit at all. She doesn't want an escort. She wants to be home early."

So they left on this homely note. But out in the dark street Amy took hold of Howard's arm, held it tight. "You want to go," she said sadly.

"I don't know. I'm caught between the conventional traditional idea and a sort of bleak common sense. Everything your mother said about war is ghastly truth. There ought to be no war. It's an insanity. Nevertheless, there's a war going on and this country's joined in. Ought I to do my part in it, or ought I to stand out and protest and refuse to fight, be one of those freakish martyrs—you know, Amy, they are freaks in a way! You never can be quite convinced that they're great souls suffering for a principle. You always suspect cowardice. If I did protest—well, look at it on the practical political side—I'd be kicked out of my job here in two minutes and I'd have an awful time getting another. And by God, I'd rather go and fight and be killed than to refuse and protest. If it didn't come from an overpowering personal conviction that would make me willing to lose all I have or hope to have rather than give in, do you see?"

"Yes, I see. I do see and understand, Howard. Only—"

"Only—"

"I love you, I love you. I live and breathe and move with you. When I think of you—oh, Howard, suppose it was reversed and I was going into the most horrible deadly danger—how would you feel, what would you do?"

"I couldn't bear it."

She did not answer, except by holding his arm closer. Presently he went on: "Suppose we stop thinking about it until after Commencement's over. Then we'll have a talk and decide. Something might come to change things. We can't tell."

"What's the use of putting it off, Howard? You've decided now. You've decided to go. The only thing you haven't decided is how and when."

I've decided this: If I go I want to try for the Aviation Corps. I may be too old. But that's as far as I've thought. We'll put all the rest off until after Commencement. We won't speak of it. We'll pretend we don't know. I'd rather have it that way. Oh, Amy, sweet, what else can I do? After all, I'm worth no more than anyone else. If I don't do my infinitesimal share I'll always feel a dirty mark against me. You don't think I want to go, do you? That I look forward to it in any way? The whole thing gives me a curious angry annoyance—my work interrupted, submitting myself to the idiotic exactions of army discipline which are absolutely foreign to natural living, and worst of all, to leave you. It was bad enough to go on the field trips and to start off with Ellert, but—oh, what's the use!"

"Yes, I know. You told me once to deal with facts, not feelings—and there's the war, and they want more men and here are you. And that's that! We'll take our little special vacation through Commencement and then, dearest, we can plan. Howard, I'm glad it's settled. It's been so awful to feel your uncertainty and not say anything. It divided me from you."

"Amy, you're never divided from me. There's never been anything false or deceiving or untrue between us and there never will be. The only reason I kept still about enlisting was because I wasn't sure, and it didn't seem fair to push my doubts off on you."

He put his key in the door and opened it with the last words. Instantly old Mrs. Pearce appeared at the head of the stairs, her bonnet on her head, her bag in her hand. "I'm all ready to go," she said in a loud whisper. "The baby's sleep as good as gold, only woke up once and wanted a drink of water. Now don't say you're walking home with me, Mr. Jackson, for I won't let you. Nobody's going to run off with a girl my age, not in Marburg, now. Goodnight to both of you." They went up hand in hand, like children clinging together against impending danger.

COMMENCEMENT in Marburg was always strenuous. There were so many established customs, besides the annual Class Day, Founders Day, Commencement Day, so many returning alumni, so many graduates' families, that the faculty was in constant flurry to keep it going. This year, outwardly, was like other years. The president gave his garden party for students, his reception for graduates and visitors. The juniors had their fire fight. The class club gathered before the Museum for their twilight concert of college songs. The sophomores and freshmen played their annual baseball game and afterward the freshmen tore up their caps.

Amy was accustomed to the routine from her childhood and had heretofore gone through it easily enough, constantly amused by its endless small importance, emergencies, pomposities and failures.

But this year, though she went the round conscientiously, keeping tea-tables, standing in receiving lines, smiling until her face felt stiff, and listening to dull comments until her ears felt stuffed, she did it only with her surface consciousness, beneath which lay the dread she must enter as soon as the week was over.

She saw little of Howard except at a distance, on the speakers' rostrum, or piloting some distinguished visitor's wife toward the refreshment tables. All their talk was of the little day-to-day happenings: "Howard, the president telephoned. Call him back right away." "Howard, Professor Ellert's luncheon is at once, but he wants you to be there early." And "Amy, don't you think this dress shirt will do for one more night?" or "It looks like the usual thunderstorm for the garden party."

SPECTROSCOPE CAN FORETELL DEATH OF MAN

French Scientist Describes Recent Experiments

Cambridge, Mass., July 18—(AP)—The spectroscopic, which records the birth and the decay of stars, can also foretell the approaching death of man.

A spectroscopic death curve, which forecasts a human death more accurately than the physicians was described today to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology spectroscopic conference, which is meeting here this week to discuss both practical and scientific uses of this instrument.

The report was made by Lecomte de Nouy of the Pasteur Institute, France. M. de Nouy did not attend, but mailed his paper to Professor George R. Harrison, chairman of the conference.

The death curve was found in a spectroscopic examination of human blood. Spectroscopic curves are like city skylines, such as New York and London, which reveal wide architectural differences, which never would be mistaken for each other, and which an expert would never forget.

Bathing Girls Play in Fair Spray

With rare delight for themselves and great amusement for visitors to the new World's Fair, thirty feminine swimming stars, who take part in the free Lagoon theater program, dared the spray and pressure of the giant Lagoon fountain during a recent rehearsal of their ballet stunt. The fountain throws 68,000 gallons of water a minute, high into the air, and a strong wind breaks it into a drenching spray. Inside the fountain the pressure of the falling water is so great that even the best swimmers avoid a plunge therein.

DAWN OF BETTER TIMES HAS SEEN BITTER STRIKES

Capital-Labor Fights Are Not Uncommon Following Rebound

Washington, July 18—(AP)—The dawn of better times often finds capital and labor locked in furious struggles.

Up and down together on the economic cycle and the lines of the business cycle and the lines of the business cycle and the lines of the business cycle.

For instance, in the boom war years of 1917, there were 4,450 strikes in the United States. In 1920, when men clung desperately to their jobs, there were only 653. Last year the number increased to 1,373.

This country—like other industrial nations—has bloody pages in its history as the result of such strife. Hundreds have been killed and property worth millions of dollars destroyed.

Twenty-two persons were killed in a single day in Pittsburgh when militiamen went into action in the great Pennsylvania Railroad strike in 1877.

Pullman Strike Costly
Bradstreet estimated the damage during the 1894 Pullman strike in Chicago at $80,000,000.

Strikes took place in America even before the Revolution. The first one recorded in the labor department's files was a walkout by New York bakers in 1741 to protest working terms.

The Pennsylvania Railroad strike of 1877, called to protest a wage cut, was one of the first great ones. Hundreds of cars were burned. Tracks were torn up. Both the militiamen and the strikers had artillery in the streets of the steel center.

Homestead, Pennsylvania, was the scene of another bloody strike in 1892. The Carnegie Steel Company and the Amalgamated Association of Iron & Steel Workers disagreed on new wage contracts. The arrival of 300 private detectives brought on a pitched battle in which six persons died.

Here's What San Francisco Strike Leaders Hold Out

San Francisco, July 18—(AP)—The San Francisco Bay metropolitan area is without its normal conveniences today because union labor is trying to force settlement of the ten weeks old longshore and marine strikes, affecting 27,900 workers.

Pivotal issue in the stevedore controversy is whether the International Longshoremen's Association is to be granted a closed shop. The I. L. A. demands control of hiring halls, places where longshoremen are employed and assigned to work on the docks. Employers refused to relinquish control of these halls, saying granting I. L. A. control would be establishing a closed shop and would result in exclusion of members of company unions which were organized immediately after the 1921-1922 stevedores strike failed.

Agreed to Parley

Employers recently agreed to arbitrate this question along with I. L. A.'s demands for a shorter week, a pay increase from 85 cents to $1 an hour and improved working conditions. Previously both sides had insisted the question could not be arbitrated, as control of hiring halls meant either closed or open shop.

Dockworkers insist that steamship companies agreed to arbitrate demands of marine unions—involving all types of steamship workers—from Captains to engine workers—before they submit the hiring halls dispute to the President's arbitration board.

Demand of all other marine unions are essentially similar to the stevedores' requests, but have never figured prominently in discussions because ship owners have refused to submit them to arbitration.

Seek Speedy Settlement

Now virtually all labor unions of San Francisco, Oakland and other East Bay cities have walked out in sympathy with the maritime unions in an effort to force speedy settlement.

Two groups added other protests. The teamsters on both sides of San Francisco Bay protested the use of non-union truck drivers to move goods from docks, police use of firearms which resulted in the death of two union men and injury to 34 others last Thursday and the calling out of the National Guard.

The Market Street railwaymen of San Francisco submitted a list of their own grievances, demanding chiefly recognition of their union and arbitration of hours, wages and working conditions.

John and Anna Eicholtz, was born at Gettysburg, Pa., October 7, 1846 and departed this life at her home in Franklin Grove on July 11, 1934 at the age of 87 years, 9 months and 4 days.

At the age of five years she moved with her parents to Uniontown, Md., and at the age of fifteen years came with the family to Nachusa, Ill.

On December 15, 1870 she was united in marriage to Marcus D. Wingert after which they located on the Wingert homestead one and one half miles northwest of Franklin Grove, residing there until the year 1900 when they retired from the farm and moved to Franklin Grove where she lived until the time of her death.

The home was blessed with three sons and one daughter. She was preceded in death by her husband, on February 7, 1934, and by her eldest son, Scott, November 9, 1926.

She is survived by two sons, Rev. Harry Wingert of Kingsley, Iowa, and Rev. Frank E. of Franklin Grove, and one daughter, Miss Ada of Franklin Grove; also by five grandchildren and five great grandchildren, and her only sister, Mrs. Susan Barkman of Franklin Grove.

She united with the church of the Brethren in 1872 and remained a most faithful consistent Christian until the time of her death. A good woman and a good friend has gone to her reward.

The pains of death are past
Labors and sorrows cease
And life's long warfare closed at last.

Her soul is found in peace.

Praise be the new employ

I'll never be taken alive!*

Face down in the dusty road with a revolver tucked in her blouse lay Helen Spence Eaton, "Arkansas Bad Girl" after she was shot to death by a pursuing trustee in her fifth escape from the state penal farm at Jacksonville, Ark. She had left behind the scrawled note shown below, and made good her boast not to be taken alive.

The casket bearers were Emory Wolf, William Dickey, Guy Willard, Walter Beachley, Ira Trostle and Frank Senger. Burial was in the Emmert cemetery.

Clean Pool
Manager Snyder informs us that he is doing all in his power to keep the swimming pool at the camp grounds clean and sanitary. Every day the pool and the walks around the pool and the dressing rooms are treated to sanitary preparation which will prevent athlete's foot and other troubles. The pool is being well patronized this year. The heavy rains making the creeks and rivers hardly fit for bathing and swimming. Thus the lovers of the sport of swimming are going to the pools, and the local pool is one of the cheapest this side of Chicago and yet has all the conveniences of the higher priced pools.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maronde and Mr. and Mrs. James Reid and family attended a party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher of near Amboy, the event being their wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helfrich and family of Dixon were callers Sunday at the James Reid home.

THE EVER-PRESENT PATIO

WHEREVER the Spaniard has builded in South America one meets the patio. Dressed up in attractive garden furniture, flowering plants and cages of bright-colored birds it occupies the center of the house and is the gathering place for family and intimate friends. Adorned with conventional gardens and fountains it forms the courtyard of public buildings. The one shown here is that of the University of Cuzco founded in 1598 in the Spanish city of Cuzco which the conquerors built upon the ruins of the old Inca capital.

The town, like its buildings, is centered around a large open square.

This main plaza—there are two smaller ones—was once part of the immense square around which the Incas erected their gold adorned palaces. Today it is bordered by arcades, two churches and a cathedral which some authorities consider the most perfect example of colonial architecture in existence. Seen from the air—for an air route as well as a railroad connect Cuzco with Mollendo port of call for the weekly cruises from New York and California—the low buildings enclosing roofless patios look more like stadiums than houses and give the town the appearance of a maze of roofless courts with thick tile-topped walls.
